International Trade, Customs & Export Law

Mid-Level Export Controls & Sanctions Attorney (Full or Part-Time)

Job Description

ST&R is seeking a mid-level export controls and sanctions attorney (3-4 years in trade controls) with a strong academic background and expertise in EAR, ITAR and OFAC matters. The successful candidate will have experience in researching and analyzing the regulations, watchlist screening, export jurisdiction and classification, policy and process drafting and implementation, training creation and delivery, as well as technology and deemed export matters.

This role requires strong interpersonal, time management and data analysis skills. The attorney must be comfortable with direct contact with clients and have the ability to prioritize client requests and meet deadlines. In addition, the attorney must have the ability to work independently but with support and direction from the team leader and other subject matter experts and attorneys on the team.

Due to COVID, this position is currently remote and permanent remote work is a possibility. This is a long-term growth and professional opportunity, and the firm will consider a reduced schedule for the right candidate.
