Job Description / Responsibilities / Requirements

We've been exclusively retained by a global leader in analytical services and scientific solutions to appoint a Senior International Trade Compliance Specialist.

With a rich heritage spanning several decades, they have established themselves as pioneers in providing comprehensive laboratory services and cutting-edge instrumentation. Their laboratory services business stands as the market leader, delivering integrated solutions that optimize operational efficiency and scientific productivity for organizations worldwide. Serving the biopharma, food, environmental safety, and applied end markets, our client empowers scientists and researchers to make breakthrough discoveries and ensure regulatory compliance through their extensive portfolio of precision instruments, reagents, software, and professional services. This is a rare opportunity to join an organization at the forefront of scientific innovation with a global footprint and commitment to advancing human health and environmental protection.

About the Role

We are seeking an experienced and detail-oriented Senior International Trade Compliance Specialist to lead and support our client's global trade compliance operations. This role is critical to ensuring regulatory requirements are met, risk exposure is minimized, and operations run efficiently in an evolving global trade landscape, including in response to changing tariffs and geopolitical developments. This position reports to the Compliance Director and works cross-functionally with Supply Chain, Legal, Regulatory Affairs, and Commercial teams.

Key Responsibilities:

Regulatory Compliance & Risk Management

- Ensure compliance with U.S. and international import/export laws, including EAR, ITAR, OFAC, and other applicable regulations
- Monitor and interpret changes in trade regulations, tariffs, and trade programs (e.g., Section 301, USMCA, FTAs) and advise the business on necessary actions
- Conduct internal audits, risk assessments, and compliance reviews; develop and track corrective actions

Tariff Classification & Trade Controls

- Review and assign Harmonized Tariff Schedule (HTS) and ECCN classifications for products globally
- Manage country of origin determination and valuation for import/export documentation
- Maintain accurate records to support preferential trade programs and duty drawback

Operational Execution

- Oversee day-to-day trade operations, including customs entries, export documentation, and licensing
- Partner with brokers, freight forwarders, and third-party logistics (3PL) providers to ensure timely and compliant movement of goods
- Resolve customs holds, border delays, and supply chain disruptions related to trade issues

Training, Systems & Collaboration

- Develop and deliver trade compliance training to relevant stakeholders across the organization
- Support the implementation and optimization of trade compliance modules within ERP or trade management systems
- Collaborate with cross-functional teams to ensure seamless integration of compliance into business practices

Qualifications:

Minimum requirements

- Bachelor's degree in International Business, Supply Chain, Law, or related field
- Minimum of 6–8 years of experience in global trade compliance, preferably in the life sciences, medical device, or manufacturing industry
- Strong understanding of U.S. import/export regulations and tariff regimes

Preferred qualifications:

- In-depth knowledge of HTS classification, ECCN determination, and country of origin rules
- Experience managing broker relationships and customs processes
- Proficiency with ERP systems (e.g., SAP, Oracle) and trade tools (GTS, Amber Road, Integration Point, Descartes)
- Strong analytical and problem-solving skills with high attention to detail
- Excellent communication, documentation, and project management skills

Perks:

- Be part of a mission-driven organization whose technologies directly impact global health, safety, and scientific advancement
- Thrive in a collaborative, innovative culture that celebrates expertise and invests in professional growth
- Enjoy a highly competitive compensation package with comprehensive benefits designed for your well-being
- Accelerate your career through structured development pathways within a respected global organization
- Benefit from flexible work arrangements with hybrid options tailored to your productivity needs
- Make meaningful contributions that enable scientific breakthroughs and ensure regulatory excellence worldwide
